

Gavin Gillas

Chief Executive Officer, Project Venkman

Gavin is a former IP attorney with over 600 licensing deals across telecommunications, blockchain, media, biotech, and software. Focused on IP licensing, he's a named inventor on blockchain patents, starting in the industry from 2013. As the former CEO of TMC, he licensed media rights to over 400 publications for redistribution and digital content transformation and worked with Intel, HP, and Samsung. He co-founded Yeoman's Growth Capital in 2019 to build enterprise consortium projects across the future of work and blockchain including partnerships and clients such as Daimler Benz and IBM.

As the CEO and co-founder of Project Venkman, he works with enterprises on rights management and digital transformation for leading brands, focusing on web3 loyalty and rewards programs including NFTs, tokenized points programs, and vendor incentives. Investors in Project Venkman include Valor Equity Partners, Night Ventures, and partners from Kraken Ventures. He served for 3 years as Entrepreneur in Residence at the University of Texas and mentors at DivInc, Capital Factory, and Techstars programs.

The WICT
Network

Empowering Women
in Media, Entertainment and Technology