

As a seasoned Sales Executive at Slalom, Jayme has demonstrated exceptional leadership and strategic prowess in the dynamic consulting industry. With over five years at Slalom Consulting, she has played a pivotal role in driving growth and innovation, embodying the firm's commitment to building market-leading solutions and fostering a culture of excellence. Her steadfast approach to cultivating enduring relationships with clients and guiding them to meet their strategic objectives demonstrates her commitment to client partnership as a cornerstone of business success. Jayme's impact extends beyond her professional achievements.

As a former Director of Board Operations for The WICT Network: Rocky Mountain, she managed logistics, coordinated meetings, and ensured board organization for four years. Her leadership was pivotal in supporting both men and women in the telecommunications industry to advance their careers with an open-minded perspective. In her current role as the Director of Tech IT Out for The WICT Network: Rocky Mountain, she continues to champion the enhancement of knowledge and networking opportunities for over a thousand members in the media, entertainment, and technology sectors.

Prior to joining Slalom, Jayme honed her skills in business development and strategic sales at Loft9 Consulting and PC Connection, Inc. Her ability to exceed sales targets and forge meaningful relationships with clients and partners alike showcases her exceptional business acumen and commitment to delivering value. Jayme's diverse background, including her early career in ticket sales with the Dallas Stars, has equipped her with a unique perspective and a versatile skill set that she leverages to drive success in her endeavors. Her passion for leadership, innovation, and community involvement makes her a standout "Leader to Watch" in the world of cable telecommunications.

In her personal life, she enjoys time with her partner Bijan, exploring new destinations, and sampling delicious cuisine. Staying active is important to her, with walking, volleyball, Peloton workouts, and spending time with family and friends being her favorite activities.
