

Petr Kucheryavyy is Senior Manager for Spectrum's Accessibility team, overseeing Strategic Partnerships, Customer Communications/Social Media, Learning and Development, Customer Escalations, Engagement and the product owner of the Spectrum Access app, for Spectrum's Accessibility team. Petr helps lead accessibility initiatives to improve and optimize accessibility experiences for both employees and customers.

Though his career began in the Health and Wellness field, his personal journey with vision loss propelled him to work in the blindness rehabilitation field as well as accessibility consulting after moving to Denver in 2012. Later, he would be encouraged to build on his knowledge in accessibility in a corporate environment and he joined Charter in 2017, where he could impact the mission of disability inclusion on a wide scale platform. Since joining, he has had the opportunity to build and influence novel accessibility integrations including the development of Charter's first product designed accessibly from the ground up (Spectrum Mobile), employee trainings, accessible employee experiences, company communications/marketing, community outreach, Accessibility L&D/Training, as well as innovative efforts to transform access to entertainment through development of the Spectrum Access app.

In 2020, Petr was accredited as a Certified Professional in Accessibility Core Competencies (CPACC) from the International Association of Accessibility Professionals (IAAP). Petr also received the WICT Rising Star for the Rocky Mountain chapter in May of 2023.
